Cliff Notes on The 100 Day Project

- Do the same something every day for 100 days
 - Because you want to

WHAT?

Pick something you want to do every day for the 100 days of the project.

What can you do? Anything at all!

Paint, draw, dance, knit, doodle, sing, brush your teeth.

Want to build your portfolio?

Write a book?

Practice a skill or get better at using a tool?

Just have fun?

WHY BOTHER?

We're not that into should around here.

Do you want to do the project? That's a great reason.

Other great reasons: because taking five minutes out of the day to do something just because you love it is pretty radical.

Because creative confidence is earned through practice.

Because inspiration shows up when you do.

Or just...because you feel the pull.

GOAL ACHIEVED ! A FRESH COLLECTION OF MAGIC CRAYONS

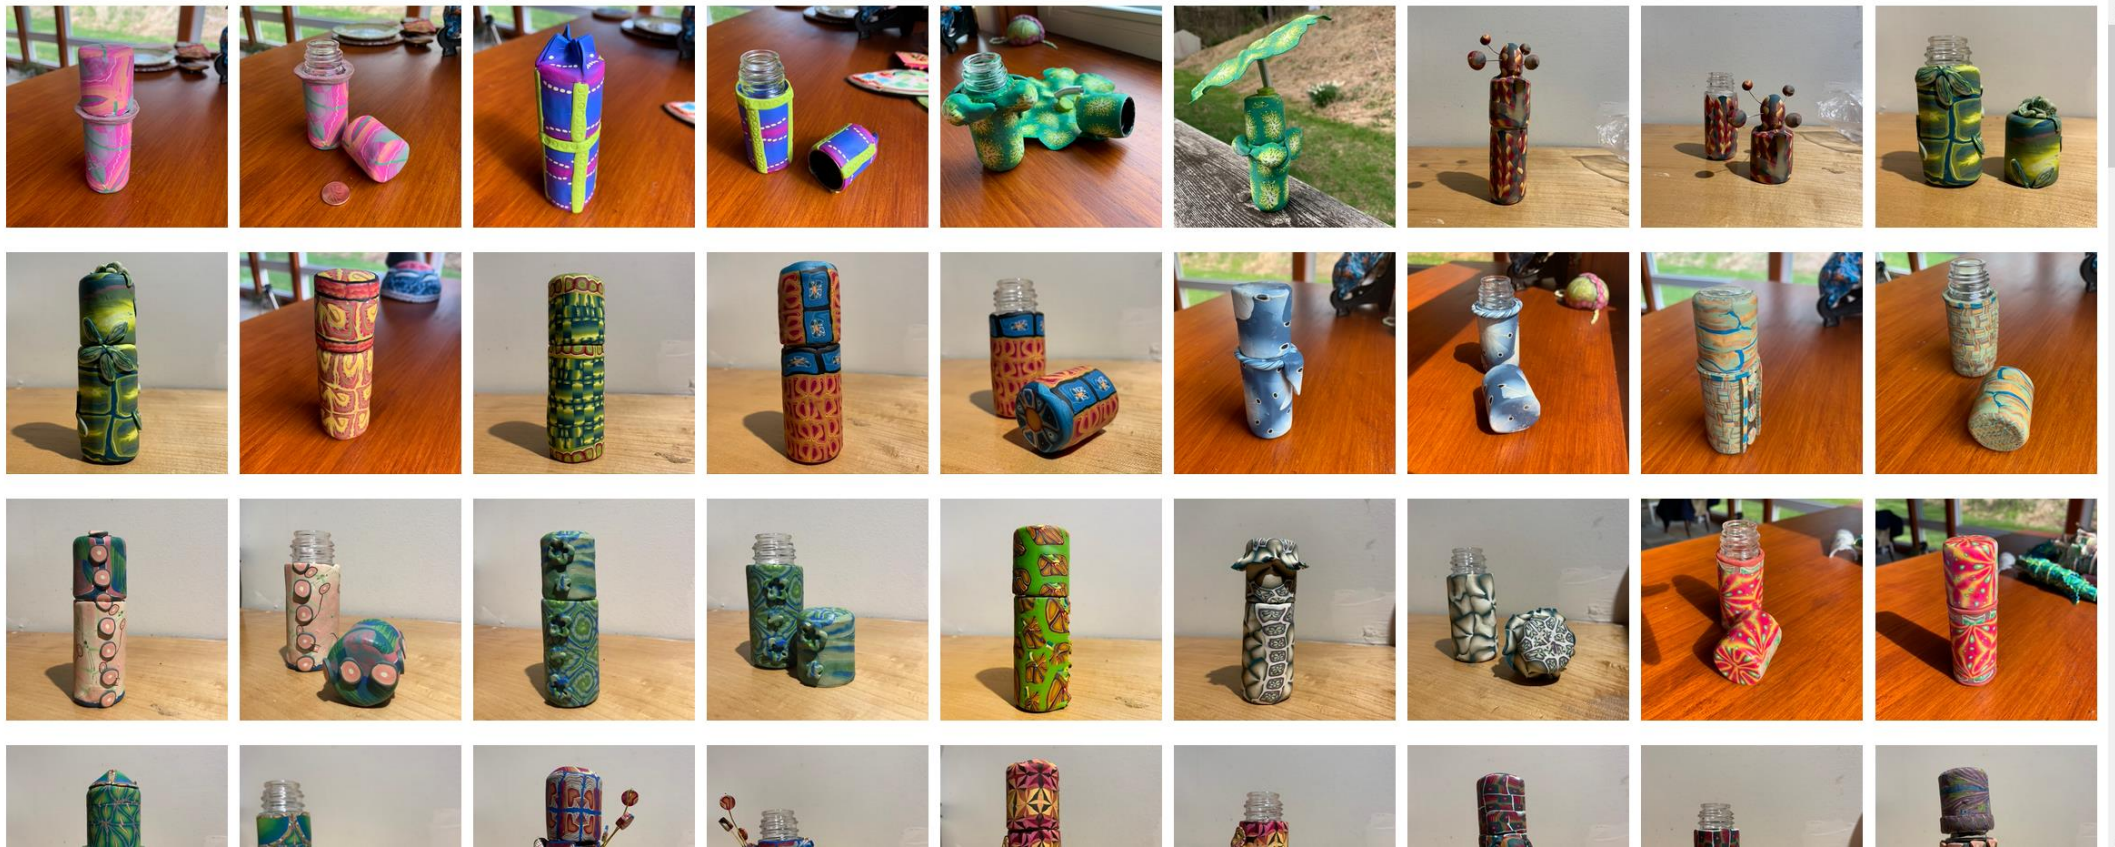

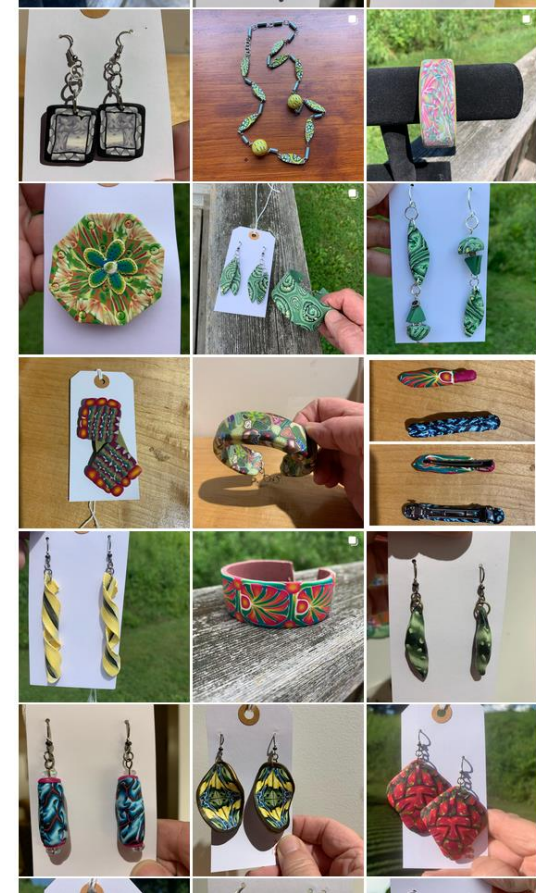

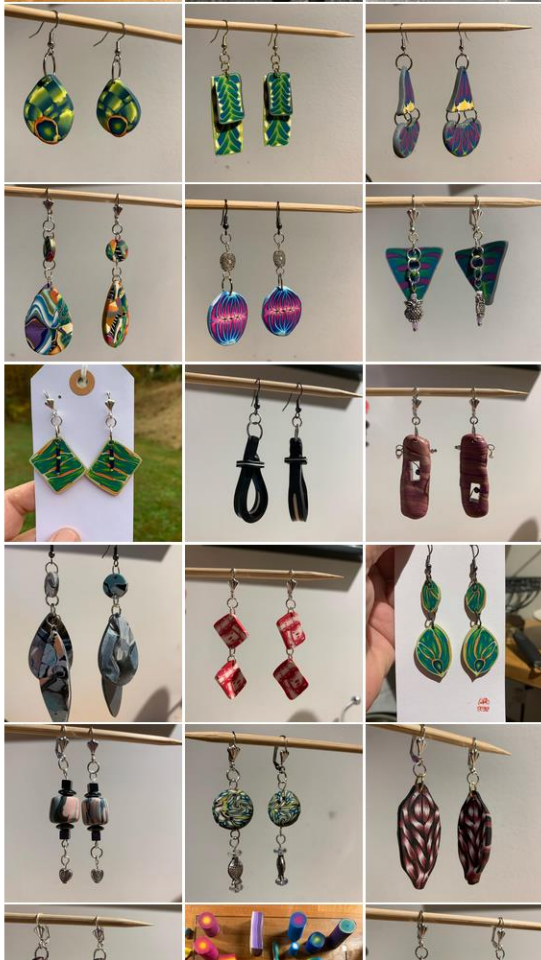

2020 - 100 Days of small covered bottles

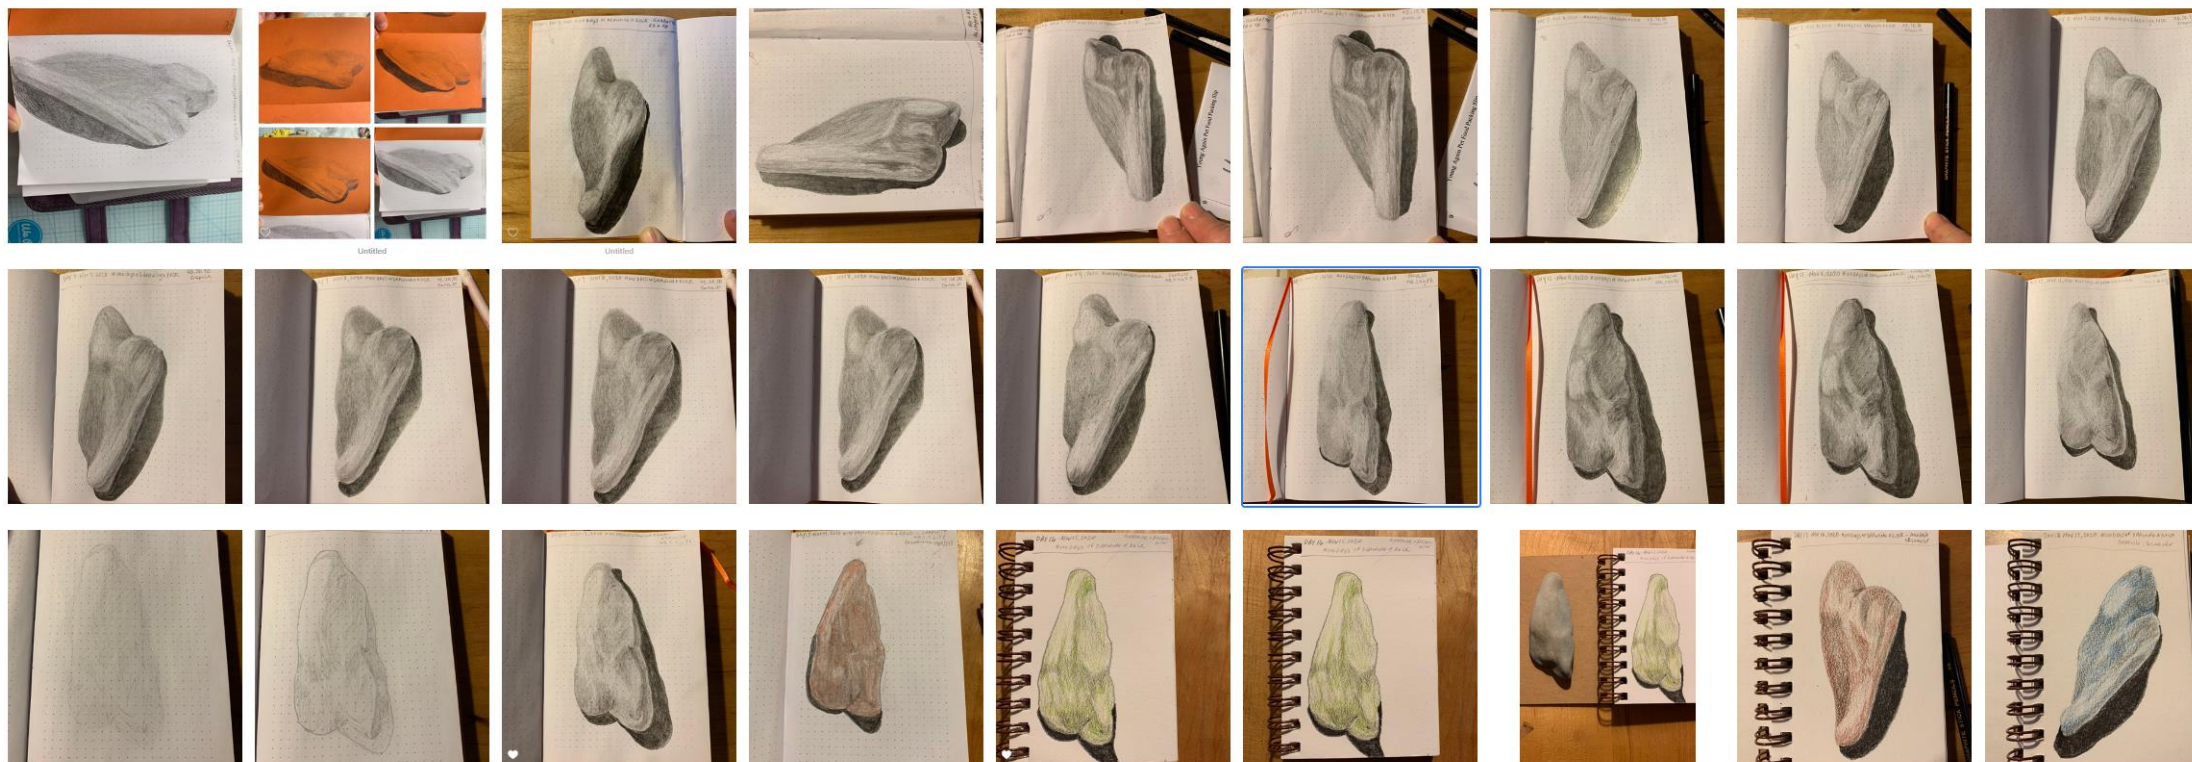

This was my first 100 day project to showcase my canework.

2020 - 100 Days of finishing things

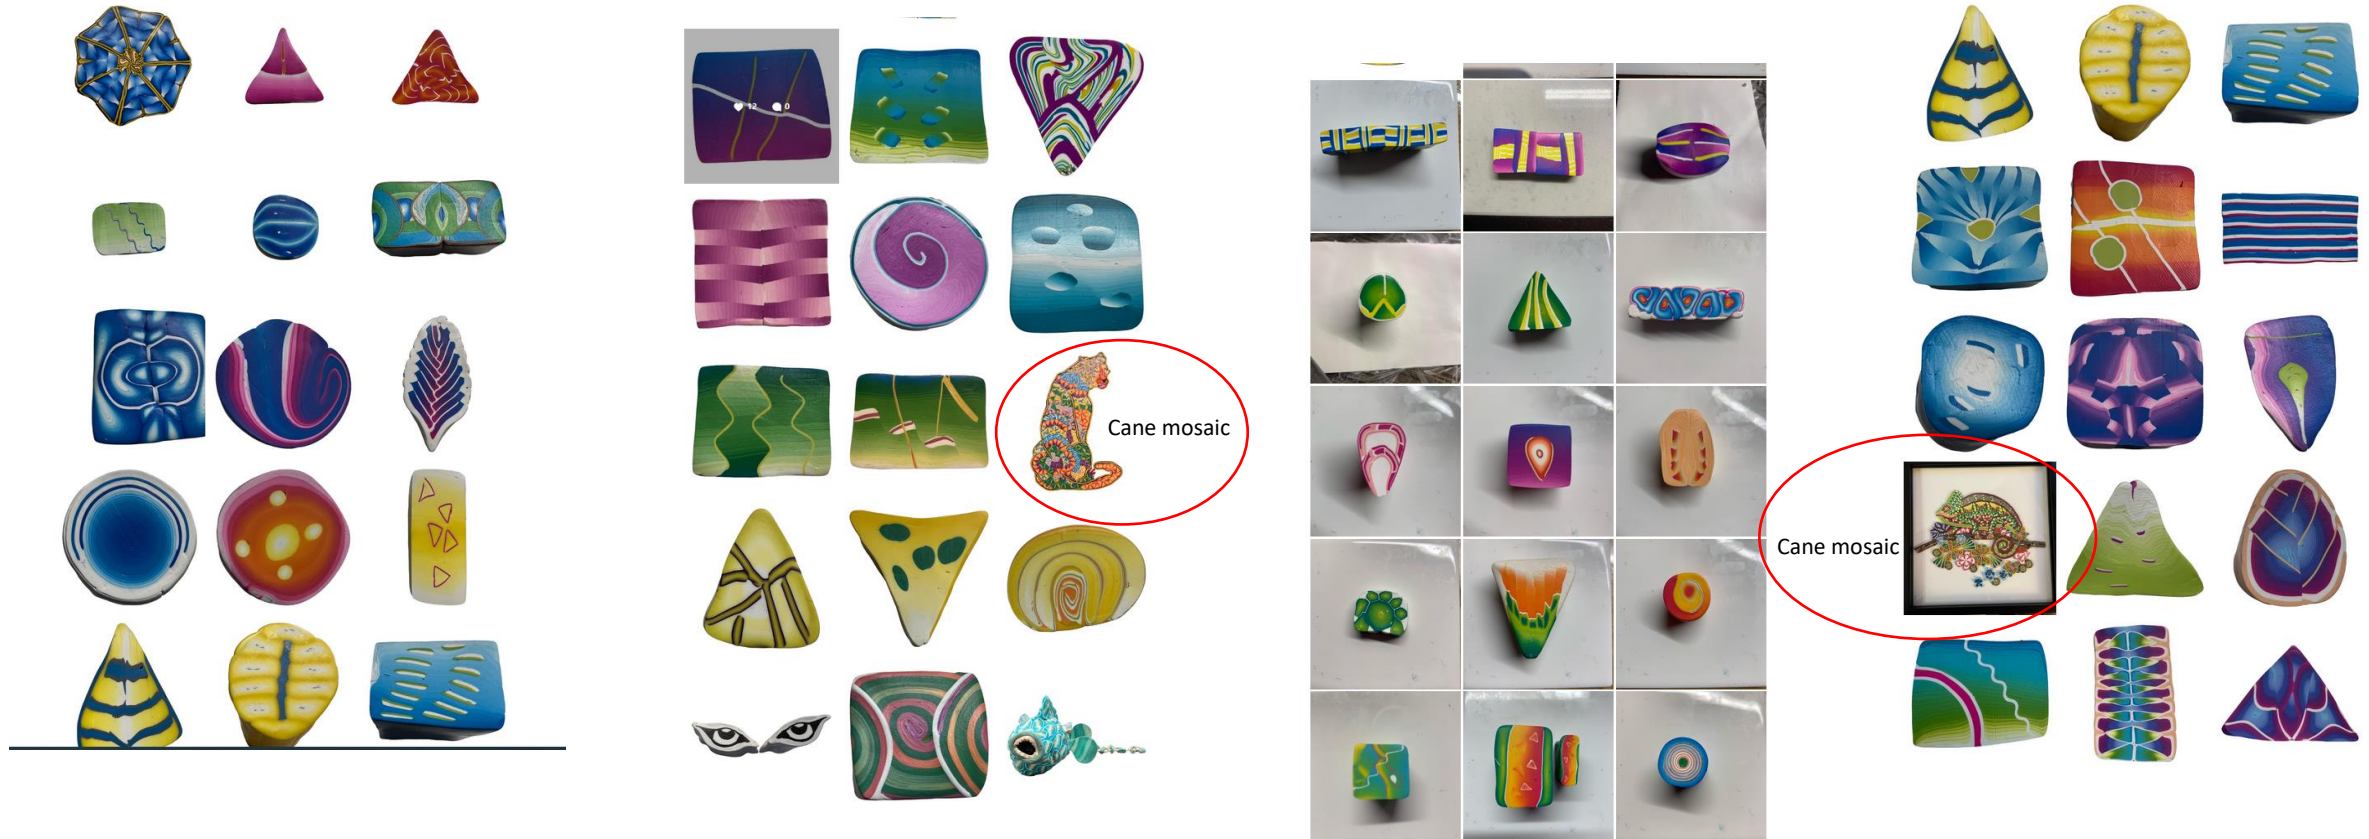

I had so much fun that I didn't want to wait to start a new 100 day project. This project reinforced and possibly increased my dislike of working with jump rings.

2020 - ~~100~~ 42* Days of drawing a rock

*took me over 45 minutes to draw the rock; best if project takes max 30 minutes a day.

2021, 2022 - 100 Days of canes (fancy crayons)

The first round yielded complex canes, while the focus of the second round was component canes which are much more flexible for design purposes.

Thanks for looking!

May the creative muse be ever on your side!!!
